

SÉGAL LE GUERN HERRY

✉ segal.le-guern-herry@univ-amu.fr

CURRENT POSITION

Assistant Professor of Economics at Aix-Marseille School of Economics September 2024

Senior Economist at the EU Tax Observatory November 2024

DOCTORAL EDUCATION

Sciences Po Paris - PhD December 2019 - June 2024

Thesis title: "Essays on Behavioral Responses to Taxation"

Supervisors: Jean-Marc Robin and Gabriel Zucman

UC Berkeley August 2022 - March 2023

Fulbright visiting scholar

Sponsor: Gabriel Zucman

Skatteforsk, Center for Tax Research December 2019 - Present

Research affiliate

PRE-DOCTORAL EDUCATION

University of Copenhagen, CEBI 2018 - 2019

Pre-doctoral year

Supervisor: Niels Johannesen

ENSAE, Ecole Polytechnique 2016 - 2018

Master in Economics

Ecole Normale Supérieure Paris-Saclay 2015 - 2019

Social sciences department

PUBLICATIONS

"Tax Evasion and Tax Avoidance" (with Annette Alstadsæter, Niels Johannesen and Gabriel Zucman), Journal of Public Economics, Volume 206, February 2022

WORKING PAPERS

"Wealth Taxation and Portfolio Allocation", (single authored)

"Avoiding Transparency through Offshore Real Estate: Evidence from the UK",
(with Jeanne Bomare), Sciences Po Economics Discussion Paper No. 2022-10, June 2022. Young Researcher Award (EU Tax Observatory)

SELECTED WORK IN PROGRESS

"Push and Pull Factors of Offshore Tax Evasion: Evidence from Bank Transfer Data", (with Annette Alstadsæter, Niels Johannesen and Gabriel Zucman)

This paper combines Norwegian administrative tax returns with international bank transfer data in order to study the push and pull factors of capital flight to tax haven jurisdictions. Focusing on taxpayers transferring large funds to tax havens, we document that these big transfers lead to a subsequent drop in tax payments and effectively predict later participation in a tax amnesty program. Then, we study the impact of both the level of taxes and the degree of tax transparency on evasion decisions – as proxied by transfers to and from haven countries and find that both elements correlate with variations in tax non-compliance behaviors.

"Avoiding Evasion: Effects of the Automatic Exchange of Information", (with Eva Davoine and Wouter Leenders)

We study the effect of newly implemented international tax transparency measures on households compliance behavior. To do so, we match French administrative tax records to account-level information reported to the French tax authority by foreign banks through the Automatic Exchange of Information (AEOI). We find that in 2021 French taxpayers hold a substantial share of their financial wealth in foreign accounts, almost two thirds of which is concentrated in a few financial centers. We also document a steep income gradient in the propensity to hold assets in foreign financial institutions. Turning to the impact of the AEOI on tax compliance and government revenue, we present suggestive evidence that the recent improvement in global tax transparency is likely to have reduced overall tax evasion and increased government revenue.

WORKSHOPS, SEMINARS AND CONFERENCES

2024 - CESifo Area Conference in Public Economics, Munich, External seminar, NHH, Bergen, Research seminar, NMBU, Oslo, IIPF Annual Congress, Prague, EEA Annual Congress, Rotterdam, CBT doctoral conference, Oxford.

2023 - IRLE Seminar, UC Berkeley, Friday Seminar, Sciences Po, Applied Economics Seminar, Paris School of Economics, Seminar at Labour Institute for Economic Research, Helsinki, Panel on Wealth Redistribution, Night of Ideas, San Francisco Public Library, EEA Annual Congress, Barcelona, Annual ECINEQ Meetings, Marseille, AFSE 2023 Annual Congress, Paris, International Symposium on Inequality and Taxation, Lofoten Islands, SEHO Conference, Copenhagen, Workshop on the Economics of Taxation, Barcelona.

2022 - IRLE seminar, UC Berkeley, Public Finance seminar, UC Berkeley, Friday Seminar, Sciences Po, IIPF Annual Congress, Linz, AFSE 2022 Annual Congress, Dijon, XXIV Applied Economics Meeting, Palma de Mallorca.

2021 - Friday Seminar, Sciences Po, World Inequality Conference, Paris School of Economics, Workshop "Fraud, Tax Evasion and Tax Havens since the 19th century, University of Lausanne, Young research seminar, LIEPP, Paris.

REFEREE

Quarterly Journal of Economics, European Economic Review, Fiscal Studies, Economic Analysis and Policy

GRANTS & SCHOLARSHIPS

Fulbright scholarship For a 7 months visit at UC Berkeley (August 2022 - March 2023)	2022
Young Researcher Award - EU Tax Observatory Joint with co-author Jeanne Bomare	2022
Young Researcher Program - LIEPP	2020
Sciences Po Paris - Full doctoral fellowship	2019
Ecole Normale Supérieure Paris-Saclay 2 years scholarship	2017

TEACHING

Graduate Course - Data visualization for economics Aix-Marseille School of Economics	2024
Undergraduate Course - Environmental Economics (TA) Prof: Stefan Pollinger (Sciences Po)	2022
Graduate Course - Econometrics I (TA) Prof: Jean-Marc Robin (Sciences Po)	2019 - 2021
Graduate Course - Econometrics Methods (TA) Prof: Junnan He (Sciences Po)	2021
Undergraduate Course - The Economics of taxation (in French) Lecturer (Sciences Po)	2020 - 2021

REFERENCES

Prof. Gabriel Zucman Paris School of Economics ✉ gabriel.zucman@psemail.eu	Prof. Jean-Marc Robin Sciences Po ✉ jeanmarc.robin@sciencespo.fr	Prof. Niels Johannesen University of Oxford ✉ niels.johannesen@sbs.ox.ac.uk
---	---	--